During a discussion about the TURP syndrome with one of our residents, the resident found the following recommendation imprinted in Dutch on the bag containing the glycin irrigation fluid (Glycocol®, VDB Medical, Brussels):

!Image of Dutch text

!Image of Dutch text

Literally translated, this reads as “one should systematically seek and try to evoke a TURP syndrome”. Translation errors can result in dangerous and flatly wrong recommendations on package inserts. Interestingly, the English version of the text was not printed on the bag, only the French and German version.